DOHENY & NESBITT

Welcome to Doheny & Nesbitt

While Doheny & Nesbitt's is today regarded as one of Dublin's best preserved, original Victorian pubs, this premises has a long and distinguished history dating back to 1828. In that year, we find John Heron running a popular and profitable tavern on this site. By 1844 one of Dublin's most enterprising publicans, William Burke, acquired this house. Burke was an astute publican, who ran a busy food and drinks tavern with overnight lodgings upstairs for the many visitors converging on Dublin due to the advent of railway travel.

In 1884 William Burke commissioned the lavish Victorian refurbishment that you see before you today. Preserved, nurtured and cared for through the decades, this Victorian oasis of antiquity is a beacon of delight to all who wish to connect with the heritage of yesteryear.

During the 1960s this premises entered the ownership of two traditional Tipperary publicans, Ned Doheny and Tom Nesbitt, whose name remains above the door to this day. As the years rolled by Ned and Tom were replaced here by the Mangan family. This old Victorian gem then entered a new golden age populated by a diverse clientele of regulars, economists, politicians, and journalists.

Doheny & Nesbitt caters to customers of all ages, from across the globe with Dublin's best music sessions every night. Breakfast, lunch and Dinner served daily and a must go place for all sporting occasions.

UNDERSTANDING IRISH WHISKEY

In order to be called an “Irish Whiskey”, distilled spirit must be; - aged in wood barrels for a minimum of three years.

- a minimum of 40% ABV.
- distilled and matured on the island of Ireland.

There are several types of Irish Whiskey including:

Pot Still Irish Whiskey: Pot Still Whiskey is Whiskey made from a combination of malted barley and unmalted barley and are distilled in traditional copper Pot Stills. Pot Still Irish Whiskeys are characterised by full bodied flavours and a wonderful creamy mouth feel.

Blended Irish Whiskey: A blended Whiskey is a combination of two or more styles of Whiskey (Grain, Pot Still or Malt Whiskey).

Grain Irish Whiskey: Grain Whiskey is typically produced from a mash of maize and malted barley. Grain Whiskey is lighter in character than Pot Still Whiskey and generally the characteristics display delicate, fragrant and floral notes.

Malt Irish Whiskey: A Single Malt Whiskey is made exclusively from malted barley and is distilled using a Pot Still.

WHISKEY APPRECIATION

The Nose

Terms to describe the ‘nose’ can vary from light to rich, robust to mellow and simple to complex. The addition of a little water brings the full bouquet of the spirit to the fore. However, be careful when adding ice to a Whiskey as it can mute the aromas slightly.

The Taste

As the first sip is held in the mouth, the numerous, acutely sensitive taste buds of the tongue differentiate the taste profile of the Whiskey.

The tastes that you will experience are often described in terms of the following; sherry richness, spicy, nutty, vanilla, dark chocolate, woody, honey, full bodied and creamy. A good Whiskey will stimulate your taste buds to enjoy many of these flavours.

The Finish

Having savoured the taste, the finish refers to the more defined flavour that is left in your mouth. This may be quite different from the initial sips, leaving either a sweet, dry or smooth essence on the tongue.
